Champeens coverage

Full slate
Every franchise got at least one name-check. ASR helped hide two: “McIntyre” = Mac Attack, “Okay, she slushes” = OKC Schlegstas (Dallas, right before Otter’s win with Adams).

Vs EP03
EP03 left five blanks. EP04 closed the board — including Kickers on mic, Spencer / My Naber, Luke Banner’s Otter, Mac Attack, and Schlegel.

Who did the talking

Share of cleaned talk time. Scott hosts; Dallas and Robert (Kickers n Jigba) split the rest nearly evenly. No Jonathan / John this week.

Who didn't get talked about

None — every franchise got at least one hit (a few only via ASR phonetic aliases).

WORKING

Premier and Champeens both 12-for-12. Robert closed Kickers. Scott's peens email-alert bit (ASR: "McIntyre") lands Mac Attack. Dallas's score rundown

FIX NEXT (EP05)

Coverage problem is solved for this week. Keep the same intentional name-check habit so ASR-hidden franchises don't slip again.

hits Spencer / My Naber, Otter (Luke Banner), and OKC Schlegstas (ASR: "she slushes").

Method

Whisper large-v3-turbo + pyannote; host intro corrected after Robert centroid mismatch. Mentions scored from franchise names and aliases (ASR: "McIntyre"/"McItec" → Mac Attack; "Okay, she slushes" → OKC Schlegstas; Spencer → My Naber Tetairo; Celery Sticks → Jordan's Trainers). Otter manager = Luke Banner. Panelists saying their own first name excluded.
