Hit for The Jackal, the thinnest

Minute by minute

Each column is one minute, stacked by words spoken. The white row underneath lights up when franchises get name-checked: brighter means more.

Dallas's score rundown at minutes 6 to 9 does most of the Champeens name-checking: 11 of 12 Champeens franchises are first mentioned there. Boom is busiest from 15' to 30' and again at 71' to 76'. The voicemails run 61' to 69'.

The board

Every franchise, by hits. Hits count franchise names, nicknames and first names; a manager saying his own name does not count. Amber tiles had three hits or fewer.

WORKING

Full board again, 24 for 24, same as EP04. Jonathan is back on the mic after missing EP04, and the voicemail segment brought three more league voices in: Josh twice, Chase and John. Boom was the guest and the most talked-about franchise (23 hits), fitting for the week he beat the champion.

FIX NEXT (EP06)

Thin spots: The Jackal (1), Amburgers (2), Mac Attack (3). Texas Tornado's Bush, 3-0, was not named until 31'; his own voicemails carried him. Amburgers came up only twice when it wasn't Dallas talking.

Method. Whisper large-v3-turbo + pyannote community-1; voices matched to the league's voice roster. Boom (diarized as Guest 5) and the voicemail callers were named from Dallas's on-air introductions and checked against records (Jerry GM 1-2, Texas Tornado's Bush 3-0). Hits match franchise names, nicknames and first names, longest phrase first so "Shiny Hineys" counts once, with transcription spellings ("my neighbor tatro" = Madison Beer / My Naber Tetairo, "jack and golf" = Jackin' Goff, "boom bomb" = Boom Baum). Player names are excluded ("Zach Charbonnet", "Jordan Mason"), and shared first names are not credited: josh (11), luke (9) and chase (16, also Ja'Marr Chase). Air is the length of the lines containing a hit. League of Record S05 EP05, aired 2026-10-01.
